ABOUT ST. VINCENT

THE TRUE GEM OF THE CARIBBEAN

St. Vincent is the largest of 32 islands that make up St. Vincent & the Grenadines. It is located just South of St. Lucia, North of Grenada and West of Barbados.

St. Vincent is blessed with warm tropical weather throughout the year. The “dry” season from January to early May brings clear sunny skies, good sailing breezes, low humidity and minimal rainfall. The warmer, summer months from May to September are a welcomed mixture of sunshine with the occasional shower we like to call “liquid sunshine”. St. Vincent is far south in the hurricane belt, and although tropical storms will occasionally approach in peak months of August and October, most disturbances pass to the north or dissipate before they reach the Grenadine chain.

St. Vincent is packed with lots of character and numerous excursions to be enjoyed by everyone. Lush, mountainous and agricultural St. Vincent has, to date, seen limited tourist development apart from one large hotel complex. Its highlights include climbing a 4,000 ft volcano and catamaran trips up the dramatic west coast. Stunning beaches dotting the shoreline and a slow pace of life help to create an environment and experience you’ll never forget.
